Overview / aims

- To consider how we might use a CAT framework to reformulate experiences such as voice hearing, unusual/unshared ideas and confused states.
- To consider our understandings of what psychosis is, including a review of research.
- To explore and map reciprocal relationships between self, other and experiences labelled psychosis.
- To look at how we might adapt CAT tools and interventions with this client group.
- To consider how and when to use the therapeutic relationship when someone is experiencing psychosis

Learning objectives

- To build on our knowledge and confidence as CAT therapists working with people experiencing psychosis.
- To develop our understanding of how we might adapt our approach to work with this client group.
- Generate some practical ideas for how we might approach some of the specific issues that this client group may bring.

This is relevant to the following groups:

CAT therapists, trainees or therapists with a good knowledge of CAT.

Presenters

Dr Claire Seddon, CAT practitioner & Consultant Clinical Psychologist, Mersey Care Early Intervention for Psychosis (EIP) Service
